Wow!! Gorgeous views from a very special piece of property! Located 20 minutes outside the popular lake-side vacation hamlet of Panguipulli. It's a perfect place to have your own hobby-farm. Green rolling pasture land all on an elevated hillock, boasts a 180 degree spectacular Andean view (including Volcan Villarrica). The lucky next owner of this 61-acre (25 hectare) parcel need only choose a house design because an unpaved public road is in and the electricity has already long been in use. There is a continuous flow of deep natural spring water provided from a simple gravity fed system on site. Neighbors engage in eucalyptus tree farming. But no worries to be bothered by any noise since harvesting only occurs every 10 years. It's great land, with all the original topsoil and growing rich green grass. Possible commercial pursuits would include potato farming, and raising either cattle or sheep. Otherwise just graze your horses, relax and enjoy the view!
